Checking There And At Stover Today in Connection With Air Academy Location

The Sedalia Air Force Base, south of Knob Noster and the Stover area, proposed sites for the Air Force Air Academy are being checked today and Friday by the U. S. Army Engineers site survey team, which arrived back in Sedalia, Wednesday night.

The team is composed of Kenneth E. Ristau, engineer; Earl Reeves, real estate division, both of Omaha, Neb. and Noel E. Buckner, engineer from the Kansas City office. H. E. Alexander of the Omaha real estate division was with the committee a week ago, but has returned to his headquarters.

Today Mr. Ristau and Mr. Buckner motored to Stover, while Mr. Reeves went to the SAAF site and Friday they will reverse their visits to the sites. The party will remain in Sedalia over tonight and have dinner with members of the Chamber of Commerce committee working with them on the survey.

Have Elaborate Brochure

An elaborate brochure has been compiled by the Sedalia C. of C. with the assistance of the Missouri Division of Resource and Development at Jefferson City, of which a large number of copies have been made. The brochure has been turned over to the engineers for their study along with their own survey and copies are being forwarded to the Air Force Site board and others interested in the academy.

The team on Friday will make an inspection of Warrensburg as to the housing condition and of the Missouri State College educational facilities.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Eleven sites in Kansas and six in Missouri are among 195 locations recommended for the proposed air academy.

The air force selection board said yesterday the list, which was closed Dec. 31, includes places in 34 states.

The Kansas sites are at Arkansas City, El Dorado, Great Bend, Herrington, Hutchinson, Independence, Leavenworth, Marion, Salina, Topeka and Wichita.

The Missouri locations are De Soto, Kansas City, Sedalia, Stover, Springfield and Weldon Springs.

The air force said it is taking three steps in considering the recommended sites:

(1) A preliminary survey by representatives of the local district army engineer's office.

(2) A nationally recognized architectural engineer will make further surveys of the most suitable sites; and,

(3) The board will inspect the most promising sites and recommend one to the secretary of the air force and the secretary of defense.

Some preliminary surveys already have been made.

The air force said the approval of Congress "will be the final authority for the selection of the academy site." Congress has not authorized the academy yet.

The board estimates that about 9,000 acres of land will be needed. The school would start with 2,500 cadets and be capable of expansion to handle 5,000. Cadets would not receive flight training at the academy.

Cloudy with occasional light drizzle early tonight, low by morning near 30 degrees. Friday partly cloudy and turning colder, highest in 30s.

Rain Drenches Part of Nation

By the Associated Press

Drizzling rain drenched a third of the nation from the Great Lakes to the Gulf today and increased flood danger in some Illinois-Indiana river areas.

The rain belt extended from northeast Texas to Lake Michigan, the lower Ohio valley and the south Atlantic states. It was accompanied by generally mild temperatures, thawing frozen ground and water.

Another big fan shaped area, this one pivoting northward out of Kansas, had colder weather and snow flurries. It extended from the central Rockies to the Canadian border, and east-west from Minnesota to the Pacific coast. It was 21 below at Cut Bank, Mont.

Central and southern California had rain and it was colder in New England.

New flood threats in southeast Illinois caused the start of evacuation of about 500 persons from lowland farms in White county near the Maunie-Rising Sun area. This would bring the total to 2,500 who have been forced to leave Illinois homes because of floods.

Governor Out To Fight For Gas Tax Law

Not Going to Quit Until Something is Done For Highways

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith opened a fight today for his embattled four cent gasoline tax law.

The job of "lifting our state out of the mud" is not completed, the Governor said in an address prepared for the men who make their living building roads—the Associated General Contractors of Missouri. Then he added:

"I promise you I am not going to quit until something is done about it."

Smith said he is confident the voters will approve increasing the gas tax from two to four cents a gallon when they go to the polls April 4. This is the date for a special referendum election on the new law.

Today's speech was the opening gun in his pre-election campaign for the law. Later he plans to stump the state making speeches for it.

As in previous statements, the Governor blamed "selfish interests" for "stalling tactics and insincerity" in the gas tax fight. He called the Automobile Club of Missouri, the State Bus and Truck Association and the oil interests "the four horsemen for mud roads."

Here's the way Smith outlined the problem:

"Our plight as it pertains to roads today is very plain. Our highways are wearing out and the state is running out of money to do something about the situation. Either we must find a way to get more money or permit our once outstanding road system to deteriorate further. There is no other choice."

Highways Built Years Ago

"Our major highways were built as far back as 28 years ago. The average of our main routes is 18 years. These highways were built for model T trucks. Today we have rubber tired boxcars carrying up to 80,000 pounds. And our highway traffic has increased 450 per cent since 1925."

"Our costs for maintenance are mounting and as maintenance costs climb the amount available for new construction must be less."

Smith said 68 per cent of the major system needs rebuilding or repairs—a 10 year job expected to cost $256,000,000.

Not Enough

"Our present income to the Highway Department will not provide half of that amount. That does not take into account the building of additional roads, urban highways or surfacing of any of the dirt roads which now keep 47 per cent of our farmers mud-bound during bad weather."

By next July 1, the Governor said, Missouri will be able to match less than one-third of the federal road money available. If it isn't matched, it goes to some other state.

On the basis of a four cent tax, Smith estimated the average driver getting 15 miles a gallon of gas and driving about 15,000 miles a year, would pay about $20 additional tax a year, or less than six cents a day.

Bandleader's Wife Sues

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Bandleader Xavier Cugat's wife, Lorraine Allen Cugat, sued him for divorce today and asked that a receiver be appointed to take over $250,000 in community property and tie up his earnings.

Her lawyer, Milton Golden, told the court that Cugat had threatened to remain outside the jurisdiction of California for years unless she settled her property rights on his own terms.

Conciliators Reached End Of Their Line

In Trying to Avert Telephone CIO Workers Strike

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12.—(P)—U. S. conciliators seem to have reached the end of the line in trying to avert a strike against Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

They made another futile effort yesterday to break the deadlock that exists between the company and its 50,000 CIO employees.

Conciliator A. E. Johnson reported that neither side would yield, which means that unless there is some unexpected development by midnight Sunday, a strike in the six-state area served by the utility is possible.

That's the date which marks the end of a truce arranged by Gov. Forrest Smith.

No Comment

A union spokesman would not say whether a strike is planned for next week. He did say, however, that "as long as the company maintains its arrogant and stubborn position, there is little hope of the dispute being settled peacefully."

The deadlock developed last Friday when the company rejected the union's demand for a 15 cents an hour wage increase.

Johnson said the company will not budge on this or other issues, nor does the union wish to compromise. He added that no further meetings are planned to bring the disputants together.

The union's guarded statement about strike possibilities led to speculation that the Southwestern Bell walkout might be timed to coincide with a nationwide telephone strike scheduled for next month.

Bitter Comment

Frank P. Loneragan, vice president of division 20, Communications Workers of America, was bitter in his comment on the company's attitude.

"The company has refused everything—honest negotiations or arbitration—and has in effect told the governors of the six states that would be affected by the strike to go to the devil," Loneragan said.

He referred to a recent conference here of officials of Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and Illinois. The conference ended with a recommendation that the union and utility again try negotiations and then submit unresolved issues to an arbitration board.

Governor Unchanged

Governor Smith said today there has been no change in his determination to use the King-Thomasson act to keep the 12,000 Missouri telephone workers at their jobs.

"I was hoping they would get together, but there has been no change on the part of the state," the Governor declared.

Smith is empowered under the King-Thomasson act to use injunction action to halt a walkout of workers in essential utilities in Missouri. He has stated he intends to take such action if the telephone dispute calls for it.

Episcopalians New Vestry

Three new members of the vestry were elected Wednesday night at the parish meeting of Calvary Episcopal church. They were: J. F. Downs, George H. Scruton, Jr., and W. J. Frost filling the vacancies of George E. Dugan, James W. Atkinson and Kenneth R. Middleton, whose terms of office had expired.

The new vestry consists of H. C. Salvester, senior warden; J. F. Downs, junior warden, and the following members: Dr. John B. Carlisle, Major General J. C. McLaughlin, R. M. Overstreet, F. F. Durham, H. W. Walsh, George H. Scruton, Jr., and W. J. Frost.

Reports from the Woman's Auxiliary, St. Mary's Guild, St. Margaret's Guild and the Parish treasurer all indicated prosperous condition.

Increased activities and parish needs are for the erection of a new parish hall. Plans will head up under the chairmanship of the new Junior Warden, J. F. Downs.

Wister, Okla. School Burns

FORT SMITH, Ark., Jan. 12.—(P)—Fire destroyed all but one wing of the high school at Wister, Okla., 20 miles west of here shortly before midnight last night.

Supt. J. H. Logan estimated the loss at $85,000—$70,000 for the building and $15,000 for equipment. All school records were saved.

The remaining wing escaped fire damage but did suffer smoke and water damage. Supt. Logan said between $12,000 and $15,000 insurance was carried on the building.

The Poteau, Okla., fire department answered the call from Wister. The origin of the fire is undetermined.

If Dalton Changes His Name He Will Cause Confusion

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Maybe J. Frank Dalton, the fellow who since his 100th birthday has said he is Jesse James, doesn't know it but he will create a lot of confusion if he succeeds in his move to have his name legally made Jesse James.

That doesn't refer entirely to confusion with the name of the bearded outlaw who was shot and killed in St. Joseph April 3, 1882, either.

No, sir. For besides that original Jesse there is also a Jesse James, who is quite a baseball pitcher to say nothing of a professional wrestler named Jesse James, who reportedly is rougher with his mat opponents than old Jesse was with train conductors.

Very appropriately, Jesse James the baseball pitcher, is under contract to the St. Joseph Cardinals for the 1950 season. Someone, with a very delicate sense of publicity, had it arranged for Jesse, the ball hurler, to sign his contract in the very house where Jesse, the gun twirler, was shot and killed.

Works in East and Southwest

Jesse, the wrestler, seemingly works mostly in the east and southwest. He is a light-heavyweight and he hasn't performed here possibly because the promoters couldn't find a wrestler named Robert Ford to tangle with him.

Such a struggle would be billed as "Jesse's revenge" by the idea lads in Hollywood.

Making Ready For The Census

O. P. Keller of Springfield, Mo., with the bureau of the census, department of commerce of the United States, is in the city at Hotel Bothwell and is getting ready for the taking of the enumeration in the sixth district of which he is in charge.

Mr. Keller stated there are 34 census districts in Pettis county but there will be no appointments of the enumerators, he asserted, until the official map is received from Washington, which he expects the early part of February.

In the interim he is familiarizing himself the areas of which he has charge.

He states that special news articles will soon be distributed to papers in his district that will be fully informative as to what will be required in response to the census takers inquiries which will be kept in closest confidence as to personal, or business affairs whether in the city or on the farm.

Persons desiring to work on the census are requested to write to Mr. Keller, Wilhoit building, Springfield, Mo., and obtain an application. Appointments of census takers will be made the latter part of February.

Court in Recess

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 12.—(P)—The Missouri Supreme Court was in recess today as a mark of respect for Mrs. C. A. Leedy, Jr., wife of one of the judges. She died Tuesday night. Funeral services were to be held this afternoon.

Cases docketed for hearings today were put over until tomorrow. They include arguments on the legality of a referendum vote on Gov. Forrest Smith's four cent gasoline tax law.

Levee Still Holding

PARAGOULD, Ark., Jan. 12.—(P)—U. S. engineers battling the swollen St. Francis river here reported early today that the levee was "still holding," but described the situation as critical.

The Dalton fellow, now 102, has filed his name-changing petition in the circuit court of Franklin county, Mo. Lawyers say that under the laws of Missouri he has a pretty good chance of winning his point.

About the only catch is that there must be no harm to any other individual by the changing of the name. One lawyer said today that he didn't see how it would hurt old Jesse's reputation a bit no matter who changed their name to his—not even a Dalton.

How to Change Name

"You can't change your name if your purpose is to avoid paying bills, keeping from making good bad checks, or taking care of any other little frivolities that might be classed by the very broad-minded as 'simple sin'."

However, if you wanted to be named Jack Dempsey because you were an admirer of the old Manassa Mauler it probably wouldn't be difficult. One very prominent business man here not so many years ago had his name taken by a foreigner who had just been naturalized and who wanted a name that would be looked up to with respect. The judge said that was perfectly okay, too.

Don't old J. Frank fool a lot of people if he tries to collect that $10,000 reward from the state for turning himself in if he does get his name changed?

Escort Goes With Riddled U.S. Freighter

Ship Blasted by Gunboat Shells Had To Get Underway

By Wayne Richardson

Aboard Flying Arrow enroute to Tsingtao, Jan. 12.—(P)—Escorted by the U.S. destroyer Bausell, this shot riddled American freighter headed tonight for the mine-free Chinese Communist port of Tsingtao on Shantung peninsula.

Apparently the destroyer was going all the way to Chinese territorial waters with the Flying Arrow. For five hours after the anchor was hoisted she steamed alongside the freighter on a 350 mile cruise to the former base of the United States Far Eastern fleet.

The Flying Arrow, blasted by many Nationalist gunboat shells, had to get underway from her anchorage off Shanghai. Captain David Jones feared her No. 5 hold would explode.

Cargo Expanded

Water used to extinguish a fire in the hold caused expansion of the cargo of jute, baled cotton and caustic soda. Her master said the danger of an explosion was so pressing he considered it dangerous to wait and try to get into Chinese, Nationalist blockaded and mined Red Shanghai.

The ship's owners, the Isbrandtsen line of New York, also ordered the vessel to Tsingtao.

The Flying Arrow was hit by some 40 Nationalist gunboat shells Monday on the high seas off Shanghai, her destination from Hong Kong. She is carrying a cargo valued at $10,000,000 for the Communists.

Destroyers Ordered Away

Two American destroyers, which had come to the aid of the Flying Arrow after the shelling and subsequent fires aboard, were ordered by the Navy to depart from her vicinity after she was seaworthy.

However, Capt. David Jones, 31, of Chicago, said one of the destroyers, the Bausell (CQ), would accompany the Flying Arrow on the 350 mile voyage to Tsingtao, once the base for the American Far Eastern fleet. The Tsingtao harbor is believed free of mines.

(In Taipei, Formosa, Nationalist Chinese headquarters announced the Chinese Navy would try to keep Communist ports closed even at the risk of further incidents.

(Foreign Vice Minister Shih Chao-Ying said the shelling of the Flying Arrow was a "necessary step in the enforcement of the closure order."

Right to Make Regulations

(He added: "A sovereign power has the right to prescribe regulations for ships violating them regardless of their nationality."

(Shih disclosed that Robert Strong, U.S. charge d'affaires, discussed the Flying Arrow incident on Wednesday with Foreign Minister George Yen. Shih said "no document in the nature of a protest has been received." He said Strong's visit was of a fact finding and exploratory nature.

(Shih concluded with the statement: "The opening or closing of ports is a subject of domestic jurisdiction. As such it is different from a blockade in international law."

(Whether this new pronouncement from the Nationalist capital on Formosa presaged an attempt by the Nationalists to stop the Flying Arrow from reaching Tsingtao was not clear.)

Lincoln Banker Has Retired

A. D. Hunt, a prominent Lincoln resident, who will be 78 years of age this March and has been a resident of Lincoln fifty-four years, retired this month, after spending 45 years as assistant cashier of the Farmers Bank of Lincoln.

Mr. Hunt, in the earlier years of his life, was associated with his brother Joseph in the Hunt Brothers Hardware store, which is now owned and operated at Lincoln by Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Carney.

He has been a member of the Baptist church for the past 44 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt are still residing in the beautiful home that Mr. Hunt had built before his marriage to Mrs. Hunt, who was the former Miss Lulu McCrary of Eldorado Springs. They have a daughter, Miss Elizabeth, who resides in Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. Hunt's favorite hobbies are reading, gardening and keeping a nice lawn.

He attributes his longevity to never dissipating in any way.

No Decontrol Action in City

The Rent Advisory Board for Sedalia met at the request of Tighe Wood, housing expediter, Wednesday night at the court house.

The local rent situation was discussed and a resolution was passed recommending that no decontrol action be taken in this area at this time, as in their opinion the need for rental housing has not yet been reasonably met.

It was brought out at the meeting that careful investigation had indicated that the building of homes, especially for rental purposes, is behind considerably in this area, compared to other cities of the same size.

James M. Robertson, area rent director, of the Kansas City office, met with the board and answered questions concerning present rent law. He explained that a good many rent adjustments have been made in this area under the Fair Net Operating Income provision of the present law.

Russians Have Designs on Manchuria

Secretary of State Tells National Press Club Members

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson said today that Russia now is busy detaching the northern provinces of China and "attaching them to the Soviet Union."

Speaking on Asiatic policy and relations at a National Press club luncheon, the secretary said that this process is complete in Manchuria and nearly so in outer Mongolia.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—Secretary Acheson challenged today a statement by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that a small amount of aid now could save Formosa from Chinese Communists.

The Secretary of State took a jab at the Senate Republican policy leader—but not by name—as he began a talk to the National Press club on relationships of the people of the United States and Asia.

He referred to Taft only as a "distinguished statesman" who had said he had no doubt that some sincere aid to China sometime ago would have resulted in different conditions now, and no doubt that a small amount of aid now can "solve the problem in Formosa."

And, he said, the Communist regime in China itself has developed new methods and techniques to help the Russian menace and provide "insidious weapons of penetration."

Nothing puts the cart more solidly before the horse, the secretary said, than the statement he hears nearly every day that "the real interest of the United States in the Far East is to stop the spread of Communism."

Government Interested

Of course this government is interested in that, he hastened to add.

But it is interested for a reason far more deeply rooted than the question of conflict with Russia, he said.

America's real interest, he said, is in the Asiatic people as people: it is in protecting their interests and their spirit of independence and self development.

It is to guard these, he said, that the United States wants to check the Communist menace.

Acheson said that Russia's designs on Manchuria are "a single most important fact" in the Far Eastern picture.

The secretary warned that the United States people and its government must avoid "folly or foolish adventures" which would obscure this fact.

A half hour later, Moran said, Mrs. Epperly called him in person at his office and repeated the story to him.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Weinbrandt, assigned to the state's attorney's office as an investigator, questioned the woman at her home from 8 p.m. yesterday to 1 a.m. today.

Tax Program Coming Week

May Call For Repeal Of Some Of The Excise Taxes

By Francis J. Kelly
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12—(P)—President Truman's "moderate increase" tax program, still a secret after three messages to Congress, probably will be made public next week, the White House indicated Wednesday.

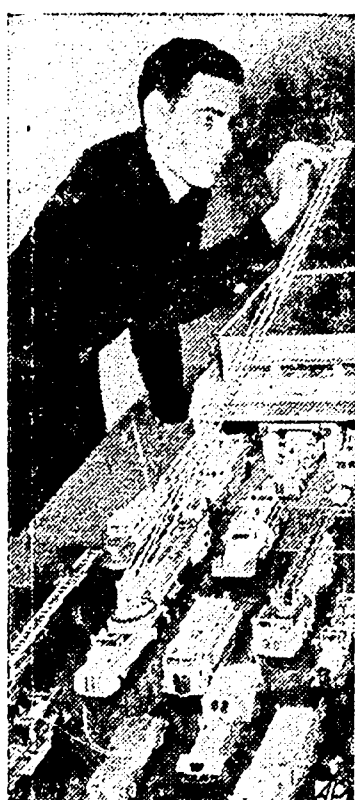

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters that Mr. Truman hopes to have the special message ready by that time. The secrecy which the President has thrown about his forthcoming recommendations was reported to be resulting in some fidgets among administration supporters in Congress.

According to one House member with strong White House connections Mr. Truman hasn't made a move to discuss his proposals in advance with the Congressmen who will have to carry the ball once the plan is made known. It is a tough assignment to put across a tax boost in an election year and the difficulties are multiplied when the tax authorities on capitol hill have no advance opportunity to smooth the path.

Call For Some Increases
The general belief at the capitol is that Mr. Truman will ask for a sizeable increase in corporation taxes, along with a recommendation for reduction or repeal of some excise taxes, such as those on jewelry, furs, handbags, light bulbs and transportation.

In this week's budget message, the President's words were that he would present recommendations "to provide a more balanced and equitable tax structure and to increase federal revenues."

The message contained a hint that at least a large part of the increases might be against corporate income. Mr. Truman observed that the net increase of revenue during fiscal 1951 would be "substantially smaller" than in later years, owing to the time required for some of the changes to become fully effective. Corporations pay their taxes a year after their income is received; most individuals are on a pay-as-you-go basis.

How much additional net revenue the President hopes to raise is strictly a guess. Estimates run

Cold War In Scales
BERLIN—(P)—West Berliners claimed to have found they were putting on nine pounds of weight every time they consulted an automatic weighing machine in the Soviet section. Back in west Berlin, so they said, they had their normal weight again—nine pounds less than in the east.

The French-licensed "Kurier" said the gauges of automatic weighing machines in the Soviet sector were deliberately changed from one billion dollars up.

It is generally expected that he will recommend chinking up existing loopholes in the tax laws and a vigorous collection and enforcement program to catch tax dodgers.

Inquiry About Her Parents

Mayor Julian H. Bagby opened the following letter at the city hall this morning from Mrs. Edna Voorhees of 820 Spruce street, Leavenworth, Kas., who is making an inquiry of the whereabouts of relatives whom she learned recently resided in Sedalia.

It reads as follows:

"I am writing to you in quest of relatives whom I learned recently lived in Sedalia.

"Here are the facts: I was born January 22, 1890, one of twin girls, my name being Edna and the other twin, Ethel.

"Our parents were then living in Kansas City, presumably Missouri. My mother visited her relatives in Sedalia—developed a cold or something and died.

"I was adopted by a very fine couple by the name of Oliphant and I understand, an aunt took the other girl.

"Do you know anyone old enough to have been living there that long ago?

"It may be possible there are some relatives near there. I do not know the name, unless it is Moore, of that I am not sure.

"I would be glad to make the trip down if there is anyone from whom I might get information.

"I shall appreciate any information you can get.

"Yours very truly, "Mrs. Edna Voorhees."

Coach Phog Allen Has Good Word For Crowd

LAWRENCE, Kas., Jan. 12.—(P)—Coach Phog Allen of the Kansas Jayhawks, long a critic of the operations of intercollegiate athletics, today sounded on a new note that carried compliments.

"Sportsmanship," said the Kansas Basketball coach, "is on the way back."

For years Allen has criticized the conduct of spectators at basketball games.

Allen was referring, to the 8,500 fans at Lincoln, Neb., on Tuesday, who witnessed Nebraska's 57-56 victory over Kansas.

"That crowd (Nebraska) was the finest sporting crowd I have seen in Nebraska basketball for 30 years," he said. The game was a tough one and exciting all the way yet the fans certainly were orderly and respectful.

"If conduct is that good around the rest of the Big Seven there is great hope for solid sportsmanship throughout the league and all over the nation."

Allen complimented the Grover Metzger American Legion post of Kansas City which sponsors a sportsmanship trophy in the Big Seven. The first trophy was won by Iowa State last year.

"Furthermore," Allen said, "somebody's doing a fine job at Nebraska."

Doubled the Fine

Two men appeared before Judge Harry O. Berry in police court, both on charges of being intoxicated. It seems the two have made several appearances in court before on similar charges, but this morning the "usual" $5.00 fine was not assessed—it's been raised to $10.00.

The men both complained of not "feeling too well" this morning and their condition was not helped any when the court heard them plead guilty and he snapped back "ten dollars." The overnight stay in jail didn't help any.

Both men paid their fines.

Guided Missile GIs Talk Of Burples and Hangfire

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

"Watch your beam-jitter, Buster, the brenschluss isn't far off and you're about to get a burple from the burn-out."

And there you have a fine sample of GI jargon for push-button warfare.

What that first sentence means, approximately, is, "Keep your eye on the radar screen, young man, the power in the guided missile is about to shut off and the whole thing is likely to waver in the air."

For the enlightenment of anyone who needs it, the Research and Development Board of the Defense Department has just published a "Glossary of Guided Missile Terms." It's a sort of linguistic passport to the new conversational world created by the scientists working on the development of guided missiles.

Some of the words are brand new ones, coined by the scientists. For example, there is "hangfire," which means "the delayed ignition of the propellant." Or, "chuffing," which is defined as "the characteristic of certain rockets to burn intermittently and with an irregular puffing noise."

If, at this point, you're beginning to get confused, the new glossary has a meaning for the words "circle of confusion." In guided missile talk that means "the circular image of a distant point object as formed in a focal plane by a lens. Does that clear it up?"

The new glossary doesn't guarantee to make you overnight into a glib guided missile gabber. For instance, the term "magnetostriiction" is lucidly explained as "the change in the dimensions of a ferromagnetic object when placed in a magnetic field."

Another term, with its definition, which is likely to lead the average citizen from nowhere to nowhere is "stoichiometric." It means "the components involved in a burning process are present in exactly the quantities needed for reaction without an excess of any component."

Perhaps the glossary's greatest shock to the man-in-the-street is a revelation of how the guided missile boys have mangled the meanings of perfectly good American words. Take the word "plumbing." To the guided missile expert it now means "the wave-expert construction used in microwave systems, such as radars."

And "rat race" to them means "a particular type of radar waveguide configuration which serves the same purpose as the 'Magic Tee' but allows the handling of greater power."

Everybody knows what a "pad" is. But the glossary says it's "a non-adjustable attenuator." The word "gutter" used to be pretty well understood until the guided missile men said it means "a portion of a flame holder which is grooved for better operation."

They've even bowed in on that exclusive field, medical terminology. The book says the "umbilical cord" is "a cable fitted with a quick disconnect plug at the missile end, through which missile equipment is controlled and tested while missile is still attached to launching equipment or parent plane." Nothing is sacred to them.

And, as they say in guided missile terminology, let's put an end to this "spillover" which really means "that portion of the air in the stream-tube which flows to the side of a ramjet intake rather than through the intake."

Wonders When She Can Skate

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12—(AP)—A few hours after 13-year-old Ruth Miller's left leg was amputated near the thigh, she was wondering how soon she'd be able to skate again.

A roller skating enthusiast, she took "one more good skate" recently in preparation for the surgery Monday. Hospital attaches said today she is "in fine spirits."

The operation was performed to block spread of a malignant bone tumor.

Last November when her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall, told her the surgery was necessary, the girl said "if I can't live with two legs, I'll die with two legs."

But later she read the story of Betty Lou Marbury, 10, Brownsville, Tenn. Betty, after asking the nation to pray that her right hand might be saved, subsequently decided "God wanted my hand" and had it removed to prevent the spread of a malignant bone tumor.

"If God wanted that little girl's hand, then maybe God wants my leg," Ruth said.

Now she is happy because her doctors believe she can be fitted with an artificial limb, permitting her a wide range of activities—even skating.

Kills Five, Burns House, Shoots Self

Hammond, Ind.,
Machinist Was Facing Divorce

HAMMOND, Ind., Jan. 12.—(P)—A Hammond machinist facing divorce killed five persons with a pistol and butcher knives today, set fire to his house and then shot himself, fatally, police said.

Deputy Coroner B. W. Tidlaw said the machinist, Felix Samas, 33, had apparently killed his wife, Katherine, 26; their two children, Felix, Jr., 4, and 18-month-old Phyllis Elaine; and two roomers, Richard Norman, 23, and Norman's Christmas day bride, Shirley, 18.

Samas and his wife had been separated since Nov. 29 and Mrs. Samas recently obtained a court order to prevent her husband from molesting her and the children.

Used Small Pistol

Coroner Tidlaw said a small caliber pistol and some butcher knives evidently had been used in the slayings. He said "blood was all over the place."

Officers said there were indications Samas had broken into the home in the night.

Officers reported both bedrooms of the bungalow home were gutted and a hall between them was scorched. The rest of the house was not damaged.

The bodies were found by police and firemen who responded to an alarm turned in by neighbors at 6:57 a.m.

Children Shot

The deputy coroner said the two children had been shot to death. Mrs. Samas had been stabbed, the Normans had been both stabbed and shot, and there was a bullet wound in Samas' head.

The body of four-year-old Felix was found in his bed. The bodies of Samas, his wife and baby daughter were found on the bedroom floor. The bodies of the Normans were found in the second bedroom.

Captain Andrew Pellier of the Hammond police said Samas apparently had remained in the house following the slayings about midnight and had intended to notify an undertaker. A telephone directory was found open at the classified section listing funeral directors.

Killed Wife, Then Lost Courage

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(P)—The first police report said: "Man choked wife."

Police said their investigation showed this:

Anton Wegenbauer and his 58-year-old wife, Anna, found life bleak since their only daughter, Mrs. Winifred Schwender, of Ridgewood, Queens, died in childbirth three months ago.

Today they decided to take their own lives.

Wegenbauer strangled his wife in their Elmhurst, Queens, home. But when it came his turn to carry out the suicide pact, the 56-year-old man faltered.

Instead he called Jamaica police precinct. "I just killed my wife," he told Patrolman Frank Burke.

Later the sobbing Wegenbauer told Detective Lee Wilson: "I loved her very much... but I lost my courage."

Wegenbauer said that after strangling his wife, he thought of ending his life by gas or jumping under a train—"but I couldn't kill myself."

Then he decided to call police "because they'll send me to the electric chair. I want to go right away."

Important Events In World News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—President Truman submitted a report to Congress today urging Europe's Marshall plan countries to weld their economies into a "single producing and trading area" of 270,000,000 people.

The report, prepared by the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA), said American dollars have strengthened Europe's economy to the point where the 16 nations can take this "radical" step without risk.

"Although economic integration is obviously a long-term objective, the present time is favorable for initiating this program," it said.

It predicted such a move would bring a boom in manufacturing and trading throughout all of Western Europe. This would "immeasurably improve" the sale of European goods in dollar markets and "more nearly satisfy" the expectations and needs of the European peoples, ECA said.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—The Senate Armed Services committee reversed itself today and decided to question Secretary of the Navy Matthews about the defense policy row before passing on Admiral Forrest P. Sherman for chief of naval operations.

The final action, without a formal ballot, reversed a formal 5 to 5 vote on party lines that denied a Republican request for testimony by the secretary.

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 12.—(P)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's staff tonight flatly denied that the Communists have invaded Hainan island. They said no invasion whatever had occurred.

They said the invasion report, which came to the Chinese Nationalist capital from abroad, was "absurd."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—Rep. Church (R-Ill.) told the House today "the coal shortage situation confronting us today is as grave and critical" as any emergency in which the Taft-Hartley law has been used.

Church introduced a resolution calling on President Truman to use the Taft-Hartley machinery in the coal dispute. It was identical with a resolution sponsored in the Senate yesterday by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) and five other senators.

Unusual Assets Are Listed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 12.—(P)—An Oklahoma county operator of a second-hand magazine shop has individual ideas about completing tax forms.

County Assessor Cragin Smith received one from her yesterday—she wasn't identified—which listed her "furniture and fixtures" as "orange crates, tables, book rack and magazines."

She gave her inventory at the close of the year as "$200." And even the next question—"is this the same as shown on your income tax return"—was quickly answered.

"Yes and no," she wrote. "No body figures it alike."

As "other assets" (describe fully) she listed:
"God, friends, enemies, customers, second hand merchandise and me—inclusive."

Funds from the issue, would be used to construct a new elementary school building and an addition to the Fulton high school.

A county wide election to vote on the distribution of money in the county and township capital school funds will be held February 18. If the fund is liquidated the city is expected to receive approximately $40,000.

Questions on Housing Bill
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—President Truman's request for "moderate income" housing came up to its first day test today before the senate banking committee.

Speaking out in advance of the hearing, Senator Cain (R-Wash.) said he had a lot of "searching questions" to ask of Raymond M. Foley, director of the housing and home finance agency, the first witness.

Cain told a reporter that he particularly wants to examine the co-operative features of the bill to determine whether it is "offering advantages to group societies that will not be available to individual home owners."

The bill providing for construction of housing for middle income groups was introduced by Chairman Maybank (D-SC). It would set up a program for the purchase of moderately priced housing by co-operators.

The Maybank bill, reflecting the views of the administration, was introduced as a substitute for a measure offered last session by Senator Sparkman (D-Ala), a member of the committee.

You Don't Know What Busy is
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12.—(P)—Think you're busy? Well, take a look at Kenneth H. Scherer, 36-year-old war veteran.

He never finished high school, but enrolled at St. Louis University under the G. I. bill—getting his bachelor of science degree in three years. He graduates Feb. 4.

Active in all school affairs, Scherer was president of his Junior class and now is vice president of his senior class. "On the side" he works 25 to 30 hours a week as bookkeeper.

Labor Groups In Campaign

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 12.—(P)—W. P. Kennedy, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said today his union certainly would be in the forefront of labor groups taking an active part in the 1950 elections.

The 57-year-old union leader said lines already have been drawn on which congressmen will or will not be supported by his group's 215,000 members.

Kennedy said his union would support candidates whom it feels are "working for the interests of labor and the American people, too," regardless of parties.

"I have just come from Florida where I spoke in behalf of Senator Claude Pepper, who is up for re-election on the Democrat ticket," he said in an interview. "I am on my way to Oregon to appear in behalf of Senator Wayne Morse, a Republican."

Kennedy reaffirmed his opposition to the Taft-Hartley law as an oppressive labor measure although it applies to only some 16,000 members of his union who are bus operators. The 17 other crafts in the union, including brakemen, conductors, baggage men, switch tenders, yard masters and dining car stewards, come under the railway labor act.

Lewis to be 70 February 12
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—John L. Lewis must bow out as head of the United Mine Workers Union one month from today unless his own top aides decide to keep him.

They probably will.

But a compulsory retirement proviso of the UMW's constitution could conceivably provide a challenge to Lewis' grip on union minis.

Lewis himself had "nothing to say" when confronted with the UMW constitutional clause saying that officers must retire on reaching their 70th birthday. The same constitution says the retirement shall be on a pension, but nobody would say how much that would be.

Lewis turns 70 on Feb. 12. The clause which would make it possible for him to continue at the helm of the UMW after that date is one which specifies:

"Exceptions to this obligatory retirement age may be made by the international executive board if it finds it necessary to continue the services of an officer."

Toughest Polio Year in State
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 12.—(P)—1949 was Missouri's toughest polio year, state division of health reports showed today.

The division said 1,327 cases were reported throughout the state. They ended in death for nearly one of every ten persons—mostly children—who got the disease.

A total of 127 deaths were recorded as caused by polio (infantile paralysis) during 1949.

Worst previous year was 1946, when more than 1,200 persons were struck.

August was the worst month, according to the records, with more than 400 cases reported to the health division. But the worst single week was the last seven days of July when 194 cases were reported.

February was the lightest month, with only one case turned in. Incidence of polio continued right through December and two cases already have been reported for this year.

Record in Income Taxes
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 12.—(P)—Missouri collected a record $2,207,682 in income taxes last year. That was a boost of nearly two and a quarter millions over 1948, state department of revenue records showed today.

T. R. Allen, in charge of collecting the tax on Missourians' incomes, said it reflected an apparent increase in total earnings and also more diligent collection activity by the state.

He was not able to provide a total earnings figure for Missourians at this time. Blanks for citizens to use in reporting their 1949 incomes are being mailed now.

Right after World War II ended, the income tax was producing about $15,000,000. But collections took a $4,000,000 jump in 1948, when the total was only $120 short of reaching the $20,000,000 level.

'Dry Thursday' Not Very Dry
NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(P)—New York's second experiment in voluntary "dry days" to save its low water supply, started off in dismal fashion today.

The Department of Water Supply reported that during the first two peak hours of "dry Thursday" residents used millions more gallons of water than on the first dry day last December 16.

In announcing the second attempt at more rigid water-saving measures, city officials urged New Yorkers to shun baths and shaving.

Sound trucks of the New York Health Council toured some areas, broadcasting appeals for abstinence from water for the sake of the city's "sanitary and health."

"Thirsty Thursday," some of the newspapers are calling it.

There was no modification in the water-skipping plans, despite recent rainfall which yesterday boosted the reservoir storage by 2,410,000,000 gallons—biggest single daily gain in nearly 11 months.

Babe on Doorstep
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 12.—(P)—A month-old baby girl was left on the doorstep of the Baptist children's home in nearby Pattonville last night.

An employee who notified Edgar E. Blake, superintendent of the home, found him writing a speech on the subject: "Gifts other than cash."

Fur Pieces Missing
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 12.—(P)—Fur pieces, valued at $38,000, were stolen from the Paris fur firm here last night.

The loss represented almost the entire stock of the firm which moved here June 9 from Brainerd, Minn.

Panagiotis Parisis, owner of the firm, discovered the burglary when he opened the store this morning. He said his insurance coverage amounted to $25,000.

Dismissed: Mrs. Louise Sanders, Houstonia, and E. S. Burnett, 1503 South Missouri avenue.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Sam Rayburn Honored at 'Bipartisan' Birthday Lunch

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—President Truman attended a private birthday luncheon for Speaker Sam Rayburn last week at which he presented Sam with a new hat.

"Sam is the only man I know," commented the President, "who could stay in Washington over 40 years and still wear the same size hat he wore when he came here. I don't know what kind of a hat this is," Truman continued, "but I'll show you how to fix it."

Showing he hadn't lost his touch as a haberdasher, Truman flipped the hat into shape and planted it ceremoniously on Rayburn's head. As the guests roared, Rayburn yanked it down over his ears.

The President also kidded Rayburn about his age.

"Vice President Barkley tells me when he was a kid, he used to listen to Sam on the lecture platform," Truman confided. "But, in view of Barkley's own age, I can't understand how Sam can be just 68."

Florida vs. Texas Grapefruit

First course at the luncheon in honor of a famous Texan was grapefruit, which caused the President to remark: "I understand this grapefruit came from Florida."

"Yes, I am sure this is Florida grapefruit," agreed Chief Justice Fred Vinson.

"Now I know it is Florida grapefruit," declared the President, "because the Supreme Court has already handed down a decision that it's Florida grapefruit."

"You'll have to wait until I prepare my dissent," differed Justice Tom Clark, a Texan. "I am going to claim that it came from Texas."

Bipartisan Birthday

The luncheon was attended by both Democrats and Republicans, all close friends of the Speaker. This caused Sen. Lyndon Johnson, master of ceremonies, to announce it was a "bipartisan birthday luncheon." Later he introduced Rayburn as "a man who has made his friends proud and his critics ashamed."

With a voice sometimes choked with emotion, Rayburn told how he was one of 11 children, spoke of their early troubles and struggles, boasted that seven still came home for Christmas dinner last year.

"No place in the world could we have had the opportunity we have had in America," he said.

Rayburn went on to say that he believed "97 or 98 per cent of the world are good people and have good in them. I haven't any room in my heart or time in my life for hatred. I love people and I believe in them. . . . Under the leadership of a plain man from the farm lands of Missouri, we have taken the courage to lead the world for good and righteous. I believe we will succeed."

Small-Business Champion

The House Small Business committee will dish out some unsavory, but important, facts on the alarming growth of monopoly in a forthcoming report to Congress. The committee, headed by spade-calling Rep. Wright Patman of Texas, will say in part:

"If monopoly continues at the present rate, either the giant corporations will control all our markets, the greatest share of our wealth, and eventually our government, or the government will be forced to intervene with some form of direct regulation of business."

"Either choice is inimical to those who believe in the American system of democratic government and free enterprise."

The committee will recommend a complete overhauling of the Federal Trade Commission, charging that the FTC has not given adequate protection to little business men trying to compete with big monopolies.

Perhaps more important, the Patman report will recommend these changes in the antitrust laws:

1. A provision barring corporation officials convicted of monopolistic practices from resuming their jobs for a specified period after the conviction.

2. A provision that the United States, as well as private individuals, may bring treble-damage actions for violations of the antitrust laws.

3. A provision that fines for antitrust violations be increased from $5,000 to $50,000 on each count.

Patman also will charge that small-business men, bidding for government procurement contracts (for defense and other purposes), are being systematically blackballed by red tape and contract specifications that favor big companies.

Exit a A-1 Man

President Truman may not know it yet, but he is going to lose another worth-while servant. He is atomic energy commissioner Sumner Pike, the delightful man from Maine. Pike wants to go back home and run for the state legislature. Those who know Pike's pioxishy sense of humor forecast a tumultuous time for the Maine lawmakers.

For more than a year, Pike carried on a vigorous letter-writing campaign to collect half a year's pay as a $1-a-year man during the war.

His letters were addressed to the conscientious Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, not noted for his sense of humor.

Every time Morgenthau sighed and announced he was ready to give up the fight with Pike, his assistants rallied round and said, "don't you dare. He would frame that 50-cent check, and hang it up in his office to laugh over. And we never would get our books back in balance. How would we explain a 50-cent deficit to a congressional investigation?"

Salmon Pack vs. Atlantic Pact

Maury Maverick, the former Congressman and mayor of San Antonio, Tex., is still the master of the vivid phrase.

In a brief, whirlwind trip back to his former haunts in Washington, the colorful Texan criticized the State Department for failing to get its program and policies across to the people.

"Why, out in Texas," Maverick grumbled, "they think the North Atlantic Pact has something to do with the fish that swim in the North Atlantic."

Compare Resume of Truman Proposals With Those of '49

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—(NEA)—President Truman's State of the Union message lists 34 programs he wants enacted. His message of a year ago listed 50 programs that he wanted enacted.

The box score may be reconciled in this way, approximately.

The President got eight of the 50 things he wanted a year ago. They are: 1—Increased minimum wage. 2—Housing for low income families and slum clearance. 3—and 4—Ban on jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts, which are provided for after a fashion in the Taft-Hartley law. 5—Increased farm support prices on basic crops. 6—Commodity Credit Corporation grain storage authority. 7—Extension of reciprocal trade agreements program. 8—Continuation of European Recovery program.

Twelve of the President's 1949 message recommendations have been dropped from the 1950 message. This does not mean that these programs have been abandoned by the Truman administration. They may still bob up in later special messages to Congress. Accidentally or on purpose, the President just didn't put them in. Some are, of course, dead. This is the list:

1—The anti-inflation program. 2—The idea of building government plants to increase production of scarce materials. 3—Re-enactment of the Wagner Act. 4—Increase foreign markets for American farm products. 5—Special legislation to improve rural health, education and social security. 6—Provide for Federal development of tide-water oil lands. 7—Cabinet status for social security and welfare administration. 8—Lowering of building costs. 9—Universal military training. 10—Authority to regulate speculation on commodity exchanges. 11—Continuation of priority and allocation of scarce materials. 12—Limitation of unjustified wage adjustments which would force a break in an established price ceiling.

Thirty Measures Repeated

With these 12 requests dropped and with eight more granted by the last session of Congress, that leaves 30 of the original 1949 requests for repetition in the 1950 message. As listed in the 1950 message, they are:

1—Maintain strong national defenses. 2—Continue selective service. 3—Continue efforts for world economic recovery. 4—Close loopholes in Clayton act to curb monopoly. 5—Assist small business. 6—Encourage growth of new enterprise. 7—Repeal Taft-Hartley Act. 8—Create a labor extension service. 9—Provide housing aids for middle-income families. 10—Continue rent controls for another year. 11—Provide mandatory price supports for farm commodities not now covered. 12—Increase government development of natural resources. 13—Increase public power development. 14—Authorize St. Lawrence Seaway. 15—Create Columbia Valley Authority. 16—Establish National Science Foundation. 17—Develop atomic power. 18—Enact Civil Rights program. 19—Liberalize displaced persons law. 20—Continue the international effort to combat and contain communism.

21—Increase old age insurance benefits. 22—Strengthen unemployment compensation program. 23—Broaden social security coverage. 24—Establish system of medical insurance. 25—Remedy the shortage of doctors, nurses and public health services. 26—Provide Federal aid to education. 27—Revise the tax structure. 28—Hold Federal expenditures to the lowest consistent with requirements. 29—Support the United Nations, continue defense of free nations.

Four Recommendations Are New

This leaves just four recommendations in the 1950 message not to be found in the 1949 message. All of them, incidentally, were developed after the 1949 message was delivered, and none of them is a new proposal in the sense that it is now presented for the first time. They are:

1—Continued military assistance to North Atlantic Pact countries. 2—Support of the Point IV program for giving technical assistance to underdeveloped countries. 3—Ratification of the International Trade Organization charter. 4—Adoption of the Brannan farm plan.

The President mentions only two special messages to come—one on tax revision and the other on anti-trust curbs. Both of these are really old subjects. So there is not one new proposal in his message.

The only two things Washington observers have thought of which the President might have mentioned, but didn't, are repeal of the oleomargarine taxes and creation of a Missouri Valley Authority. Both may be considered as rather hot to handle, even for President Truman.

So They Say

The present (price) support system—involving government purchases and loans and holding farm products off the market—forces consumers to pay a "double" price, one in taxes to support the program and another in higher food prices.

—Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan.

I do not agree at all with those who fear that the workmen are inclined to vote for anyone who promises them free services from a federal bureau.

—Sen. Robert Taft (R) Ohio.

SCIENCE AND RELIGION

If possible we must work our way through this scientific climate to God. We now see a little more clearly the relationship between science and religion. Science has reference to that which can be weighed and measured, and religion to that which can be evaluated; the one has reference to the quantitative aspects of life, and the other to the qualitative.

Science comes to a mother's tear and defines it in terms of its physical structure—so much water, so much mucus, so much salt. But is that an adequate definition of a mother's tear? Hardly, says religion, for there are ideas, emotions, values, meanings using the physical structure of the tear. Religion would evaluate those imponderables. Thus it would take the answer of both science and religion to give an adequate definition of a mother's tear.

True. But the snag is this: You can verify that which can be weighed and measured; can you verify values? Why not? You can put values under life to see what life will do with them. You can test them by the test of experiment. If the values are real values, life will approve them, will back them; but if they are not real, they will wither—they will not be able to stand up to life; the universe will not approve them. When you live by them, you will fight a losing battle; they will let you down.

I was about to leave a broadcasting station when an announcer followed me to the elevator, saying to me: "I am supposed to be hardened by hearing speeches all day long, but you got me. And the reason is that my life has broken down at the center. The central thing upon which I have leaned has gone out from under me. I face an inner ruin and a broken home. My life hypothesis hasn't worked. Yours seems to be working. Tell me about it." I could tell him that life to me, since I have committed myself completely to God, is one long verification of my central life hypothesis—everything corroborates it. My world of values holds up under the strain of life. This way works.

O God, I want to test Thy way. If Thou art, Thou wilt show Thyself to me, for all other ways let me down; all their joys give me a hang-over. I want something that remains permanent amid change, has sweetness amid sorrow, and light amid sorrow, and light amid darkness. Give this to me. Amen.

Resolutions For Women Who Seek More Happiness in 1950

Suggested New Year's resolutions for the woman who wants 1950 to be a better year than 1949:

To give some added time to making, keeping and, even more important, enjoying friendships. Making new friendships and finding time for old ones add variety and richness to the "dailyness" of living.

To do less worrying over non-essentials. It's amazing how much you can cut down on your worrying if you refuse to get in a stew over problems that aren't actually important, or about ones that you can't do anything about anyhow.

To cultivate a serene, unhurried way of meeting each day's demands. Each day only has so many hours in which you can do only so much. So go through it with an even pace instead of hurrying and rushing yourself into exhaustion only to find that at the end of the day you still haven't accomplished all you meant to do.

Give Some Time To Your Family

To make a happier home. This isn't a matter of working harder. It may be even a question of not working quite so hard, so that you have time for your husband and children, time to listen and praise, to laugh and play, to make your love for your family deeply felt by all its members.

To talk less and do more. The more we talk about the things we intend to do the less likely we are to ever get it them.

To be more charitable and helpful to other women. Women blame most of their troubles and unhappiness on men—but a lot of most women's discontent is caused by other women.

To like your home as it is, instead of being dissatisfied with it

Gosh! Didja Ever See Business so Bad?

I Love My Doctor

By Evelyn Barkins

XXVIII

AFTER six months of marriage, I felt as supercilious about ordinary diseases as an ermine wrap next to a skunk jacket in a department store elevator. "Just a hangover from too much excitement," I told myself after my mother left with her dire forebodings; "of course I won't tell John."

But John, when he came home in a little while, didn't need telling. "Still angry, dear?" he asked. When it came to interpreting my emotions, John could sometimes be as deft as a bank clerk trying to diagnose stomach ulcers. "Of course not," I said with needless temper.

"Then you don't feel well," he said, a little more definitely. "Let me examine you."

"That's not necessary," I stolidly refused. "I'm probably tired from all that burglar scare last night. A good night's sleep will fix me up fine, you'll see."

The next morning I couldn't get up at all. "I'm going to examine you whether you like it or not," said John.

"Let me alone," I yelled. "There's nothing the matter with me. I've got to go to school."

"You're feverish," he retorted (furiously).

"And you're just making a fuss like always. Remember last time?" It was perhaps unfair to refer to last time, for certainly John remembered it only too well. We were out driving two weeks before, after a tremendous dinner at a near-by restaurant, when suddenly John got a pain. Now any pain, from a shaving scratch to a common cold, makes a man get as if he were undergoing a anesthesia. He groans, he moans, he writhes, like a patient at the Walling Wall, and practically argues his epitaph with his life insurance beneficiaries.

But when a doctor gets a pain, he makes his wounded brethren look comparatively like Indian fakirs walking stoically over live coals.

With the very first onslaught, John pulled the car up at the curb, cut the motor dead, and sat stock still.

"What's the matter?" I asked in alarm.

"I've got a pain in my chest," he answered. "Here."

"Oh," I said, feeling relieved. "I told you not to eat that extra potato, besides finishing my pie. It was too much. Let's get home, and you can take some bicarb."

For answer, John groaned. Like a death-rattling hippopotamus.

HE hesitated. "I'm afraid it might be a heart attack," he reluctantly admitted. "It usually starts with precordial pains, like this."

"Oh, John," I said eagerly, "that's silly. It can't be that; it's probably digestive. Why must you always put fancy names and frightening fears on every little thing? I thought you once told me that coronaries usually occur in the late forties or early fifties, and you're not even 30."

He still spoke low, when he answered, but with a reassuring firmness that he felt the discussion entailed.

"There are cases on record," he told me, "where coronaries were reported as early as 24 and 26."

All my married life, I have cursed the literature with its dangerous rules and exceptions.

"Very well," I said finally, since there was no disputing the Board of Internal Medicine, "let's go home. Can you drive?"

"I'd rather not take a chance on driving," John said. "You'd better phone Bob at the hospital and tell him. He'll know what to do."

"AD right," I got out of the car, and, at his request, helped him into the rear where he solemnly lay himself down on the back seat like King Arthur on his funeral barge. "I'll be right back," I said, turning to go to the nearest public telephone, suddenly fully aware of the genuine fear on his face.

"It can't be anything," I told myself. "It's just his usual medical exaggeration of a simple situation."

After a quick conversation with Bob who promised to come right by, I walked the few blocks back to the car as if they were the last mile in Sing Sing.

In about five minutes, or even less, Bob rode up in the hospital ambulance, with all the sirens going full blast like a five-alarm fire. "Just you relax," he told us both. "Dr. Gillespie is here."

"Wanta ride?" Shorty McGurk, the ambulance driver asked. I had always teased for one.

"Not now, Shorty," I said, trying to smile over my worry. "Maybe later."

AND then, finally, Bob came out with John following sheepishly. "What a phony!" Bob said. "Gets a little gas pain and thinks he's dying. I brought along Tony's portable electrocardiograph, and ran a test just to be doubly sure it's negative but all he's got is a plain upper stomach ache."

At first I was so relieved that I threw my arms joyfully about the former condemned man and kissed him. Then I remembered everything, and turned on him in righteous indignation. "Scaring the life out of me! Didn't I tell you it was nothing?" I demanded. "You—you worrier!"

"I'd have felt the same," Bob spoke up, trying to defend John.

"You glorified plumbers!" I raged, climbing in beside Shorty McGurk. "Let's take a ride. Shorty," I said, "and ring all the bells. I've had enough!"

But it was never enough, and I wielded the story like an Amazonian club over John's head, whenever necessary. But that morning, my diversionary move failed. "That's over," John said definitely. "You stay right here. I'll get my bag from the office and examine you."

The Doctor Says—

There is no 'Miracle' Cure; Only Patient Scientific Study

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

In olden days herbs, crushed beetles and all sorts of strange mixtures were given to people who were ill, some of whom recovered. The cures were often considered as miraculous. Those who got well were in better position to boast of these cures than those who did not. Actually Mother Nature was responsible and the fact that so many of them lived was in spite of the treatment rather than because of it.

Today there are other cures of a similar nature. Again wishful thinking and the strength of the human body are usually responsible for recovery in those patients who do survive.

There is another type of treatment which is sometimes referred to as a miracle cure. Many of the newer discoveries of medicine like insulin for diabetes or penicillin have been referred to as miracle drugs. Actually this is most unfortunate since there is nothing miraculous about them.

The discovery of insulin, for example was based on careful laboratory studies and animal experiments in many different parts of the world. When it finally became possible to use insulin in human diabetes, this boon to humanity was the result not of the efforts of a single man but of many.

It is no reflection on the great work of banting, who received the Nobel prize for the discovery of insulin, to say that others had done much in the preliminary work. The same thing is true of penicillin although in that case two groups of workers were primarily responsible. The discovery of penicillin, however, was no miracle but rather the result of years of patient labor in the laboratory.

There are thus two kinds of so-called miracle cures—one of them based on pure superstition. Such "cures" unfortunately are pushed on an unsuspecting public usually in the hope of financial gain; the other is the result of hard mental work and patient observation.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

QUESTION: Would the juice of one lemon taken in a glass of water upon getting up be of any harm to the body?—D. A. J.
ANSWER: Barring the presence of a stomach ulcer or some similar condition, I do not see how this could produce any harm.

Just before the outbreak of World War II, England had a total of 17,000 thoroughbred race horses.

IN PATH OF CHINESE REDS—Recent Chinese policy controversy in Washington focused American attention on Formosa, but another Nationalist island, Hainan, is more tempting bait for immediate invasion by the Chinese Communists. Lying like a huge oyster close to the Chinese mainland, Hainan strategically blocks any approach to China from the south and dominates the sea routes to French Indo-China and British Hong Kong. It has the same area as Formosa, about twice that of New Jersey.

Assembly Held By Sophomores

The sophomore class of Smith-Cotton high school gave the senior high an all sophomore talent assembly Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. It was conducted by the class president, Kay Beth Sublett and was sponsored by E. C. Schlichting.

Williams, Powers started the program by singing Irish Lullaby. He was followed by "Billy" Jack Roberts who played a saxophone solo. The next number was "Body and Soul" sung by Patsy Keele. She was accompanied by Carole Pile.

Helen Berry and Janice Fendley continued the program with a twirling performance. Janet Swope sang "Don't Cry Joe" next; she was accompanied by Cynthia Mynatt.

The next event on the program was a short skit by sophomores entitled "The Viper." The play was a short comedy taking place in medieval times. Starring in the play were: George Duell, Patty Callis, Jimmie Dent, Peggy Shull, and Charles Walton.

After the play two Bell Telephone company films were shown entitled "Ice Kings Challenge" and "Stepping Along with Television." The former dealt with the heavy losses due to storms in the last few years and how the Bell service was restored in the shortest possible time. The second was the story of how a television program was carried across the country and the many operations necessary to do this.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not cause "plate odor" (denture breath). Governor To Stump State

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 12—(P)—Gov. Forrest Smith plans to stump the state for his four-cent gasoline tax bill.

A special referendum election on the bill comes up April 4. The voters will have a chance to say then whether they want the present two cent tax doubled.

Smith said Tuesday the kickoff speech in his gas tax campaign will be before the Associated General Contractors' convention in St. Louis tomorrow.

After that tentative plans call for district meetings in Southeast, Southwest, Northwest, Northeast and Central Missouri. The only other speech definitely scheduled so far is before the Kansas City Optimist club Jan. 20.

In previous speeches and statements the Governor has charged that "selfish interests," especially the Automobile Club of Missouri and oil dealers, are behind the opposition to his road program.

Mackenzie's Column

By Dewitt MacKenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
We shouldn't let the Chinese crisis distract attention from another grave situation in the Asiatic theatre, and that is the badly strained relations between Pakistan and India.

These huge neighbors, which only about two and a half years ago received their complete independence from Britain, are at swords point. The position has become so serious that the grim word "war" is being bandied about all too freely for comfort.

There are several reasons for the differences: economic complications, devaluation of India's currency while Pakistan stood pat, the bitter struggle for possession of the rich state of Kashmir, and the centuries old religious animosities. A week ago India's deputy premier Sardar Vallabhai Patel told an audience of 20,000 that "India does not have a friendly neighbor (meaning Pakistan) and the wounds of the subcontinent's partition are not healed up." Patel was defending his government's expenditure of two-thirds of its revenue on defense and declared that "India will not reduce expenditure until her relations with Pakistan become smooth." At another point he said:

No Nation Dare Attack
"We have built up our forces so that no nation dare attack us." A day or so later Prime Minister Nehru announced that three weeks earlier he had sent the Pakistan government the draft of a proposed joint declaration banning war and proposing settlement of differences by negotiation. He said Pakistan had asked for this draft after he had proposed such an agreement.

Thus far there has been no announcement of a reply from Pakistan. Friends of peace are keeping their fingers crossed, and hoping against hope that the two countries can bury the hatchet. One great difficulty is that they don't trust each other.

It was of course a terrible pity that the great Indian peninsula had to be partitioned in the first place. The division of the subcontinent into India and Pakistan has produced an economic catastrophe, since India does the greater part of the manufacturing and Pakistan, which is largely agricultural, produces much of the essential raw materials. One example will suffice to show what is happening:

Dependent on Each Other
Pakistan is the world's largest producer of jute and accounts for 73 percent of the output for the entire peninsula. India has jute mills processing more than 90 percent of the globe's jute. In short, the two nations are dependent on each other in this vital matter of jute.

To add to this jute imbroglio, there is a fierce quarrel over currency values. Some time ago India devalued the rupee while Pakistan refused to follow suit. The result is that India no longer can buy jute from Pakistan excepting at a heavy loss because of the depreciated currency. So India refuses to deal and the important jute industry is stagnant.

Patel's comment on the devaluation situation is: "We are not fools to pay 144 rupees for 100 rupees and we will not succumb to pressure tactics."

Thus runs the sad story of India-Pakistan relations in virtually all fields of activity. Naturally both countries are suffering grievously and the only possible solution is establishment of close economic relations between them.

If that isn't done — and done soon — the consequences could be disastrous.

Dentist Didn't Mean to Poke Fun
CHICAGO, Jan. 12—(P)—The income tax collector opened a letter from a taxpayer Tuesday. Out dropped two eye-teeth—or at least X-ray pictures of them.

"Someone is making a joke," mused John T. Jarecki, internal revenue collector.

But he found a check in the letter, too. A telephone call showed that the taxpayer, a dentist, sent the X-ray films instead of his tax return.

The dentist said it was an accident and he didn't intend to poke fun.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—(P)—The stock market climbed to the highest level since August, 1946 on Wednesday.

Trading was heaviest in around 14 months, with 2,630,000 shares of stock changing hands.

Individual issues advanced a few cents to more than $1 a share. Speculative as well as top-grade stocks attracted buying support.

The market was a bit on the soggy side most of the day. In late trading, though, steel and motor shares started to rise and demand soon spilled over into other groups.

Today's advance was the latest climax to a rise that started back in mid-June.

Will you leave these to your children?

Men have died to leave you these 4 symbols of freedom:

A door key—your right to lock your door against illegal government force and prying.
(Fourth Amendment, U. S. Constitution)

A Holy Bible—symbol of your right to worship as you wish.
(First Amendment, U. S. Constitution)

A pencil—freedom to speak or write what you think, whether you agree with the government or not.
(First Amendment, U. S. Constitution)

And a free ballot—your right to choose the kind of government you want—your protection against government tyranny.
(Article I, U. S. Constitution)

These symbols have no meaning in countries where government controls everything—for there the individual man or woman has no freedoms.

But there are people who are trying to give the U.S. government more and more control over American life. "Let the government start," they say, "by taking over certain industries and services—the doctors, the railroads, the electric light and power companies."

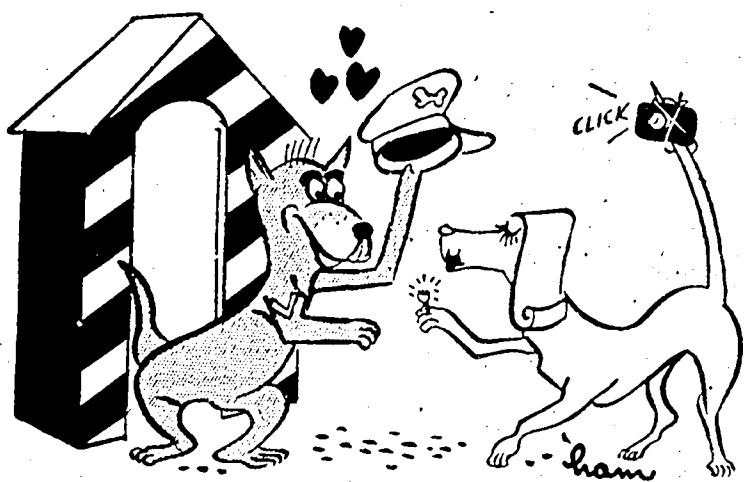

Most of these people—like most Americans—don't want a socialistic U.S.A. They have other reasons for government control. But when government, moving step by step, controls enough things, you have a socialist government, whether you want it or not. You'll be controlled, too. Then what freedoms will you be able to pass on to your children?

Tito's Watchdog Fell For a Vulgar Bulgar

By Alex Singleton
AP Newsfeatures

BELGRADE—If true, it was a dirty trick—even for a dog. But, as the story was printed by Yugoslavia's official press recently, Marshal Tito's guards recruited a handsome watchdog in the prime of his life to help secure the Bulgarian frontier.

Proud of his post, the watchdog abandoned the free and easy way of life in city and countryside and snarled bare-toothed warning to any one who would dare trespass across the border.

This was a new menace for the Bulgarians. But they reasoned: for every weapon, there's a defense. So they recruited a handsome female dog and turned her loose on the border.

Sad to relate, love triumphed over loyalty. The handsome Yugoslav watchdog, unmindful of the cold war, padded his way across the border to woo the paw of the beautiful Bulgarian.

Instead of rapture, the handsome Yugoslav watchdog found capture on the other side of the border.

Bulgarian guards seized him while he was a-courting. They stuffed beneath his collar a batch of Anti-Tito propaganda which they had been attempting vainly to sneak across the frontier. Then they sent him packing homeward.

A reluctant courier, a crestfallen lover, he reported back to his post still carrying the propaganda.

Burned up by the ruse, the Yugoslav border guards promptly burned up the propaganda. And their watchdog is in the doghouse now.

Add Network To To Power System

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 12—(P)—The Southwestern Power Administration announced Wednesday it had leased for 40 years new transmission lines of the Central Missouri and Sho-Me cooperatives adding $11,000,000 worth of network to its power system.

The lease tie in with a contract for the purchase of power from a 15,000-kilowatt steam generating plant to be built near Jefferson City, Mo.

SPA said the agreement calls for purchase of the entire output of the Central Missouri Co-Operative's $3,100,000 steam plant and the leasing nearly 1,000 miles of high voltage transmission lines.

Douglas G. Wright, SPA administrator, said that when the system is in full operation sometime in 1953, it will bring economical electrical service to the "Power Vacuum" of Central Missouri and will improve service in southern Missouri now managed by Sho-Me.

Through the tie-up, SPA power will cover 35 counties in Missouri—Texas, Pulaski, Pike, Ozark, Dallas, Osage, Charlton, Phelps, Montgomery, Douglas, Laclede, Gasconade, Randolph, Shannon, Gallaway, Greene, Webster, Franklin, Boone, Carter, Crawford, Christian, Wright, Maries, Monroe, Oregon, Washington,

Holy Year Events Planned

VATICAN CITY — (P) — The Holy Year Central Committee has announced an initial list of 15 international religious congresses and four non-religious to be held during the 1950 jubilee. The religious congresses will include the Third International Congress of Catholic Journalists, promoted by the International Union of the Catholic Press February 16 to 18.

Another congress to be held early this year will be that of the "Adherents to the Hospitality of Our Lady of Lourdes," March 2 to 8. Non-religious congresses to be held in Rome will include the International Chambers of Commerce, April 23 to 30.

The little animal eats all kinds of fruits and vegetables. "We found him when he was very small and raised him on a nursing bottle," says Mrs. Nielson. "Now he weighs 10 pounds. How thin is a slice? With a new method developed by the Bureau of Standards, it is so thin that a stack of 750 slices would be as thick as an average human hair.

Personal To Women With Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slow down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Hennings Opens His Campaign

BONNE TERRE, Mo., Jan. 12—(P)—Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., of St. Louis, opened his campaign for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator here Monday night.

In a speech before the St. Francois County Young Democrats club, he predicted that Missouri will again vote Democratic by a large majority as proof of the people's faith in the party's "social progress" platform.

Hennings made no reference to the intra-party fight for the senatorial nomination. This was touched off by President Truman's announcement that he favors Senator Emory W. Allison for the post now held by Sen. Forrest Donnell, a Republican.

Tobacco men will be benefited by a tobacco heat-curing apparatus, for use in curing barns, which utilizes oil or bottled or other gas for fuel. It is to replace the wood and other solid fuel burners now used with flue-cured tobacco.

A Test For S-C Tigers Friday Night

Local Cagers Will Meet Undeclared Hannibal Team

The Smith-Cotton high cagers have been going through heavy workouts this week in preparation for their game with undefeated Hannibal Pirates this Friday and the game with M. M. A. Saturday. The winner of the Hannibal game will take over undisputed possession of first place in the CMO conference. Neither team has been beaten in conference play this year and Hannibal is undefeated in all games.

Hannibal Beat Tigers

The Hannibal Pirates beat the Tigers in the pre-season conference tourney at Jefferson City. They downed S-C 40 to 38 in the closest game the Tigers have played this year. The 38 points Hannibal limited the Tigers to in the previous contest was the lowest score that Sedalia has made in a game this year.

The previous game between the two is not a good indication as to the playing ability of either team as both had limited workouts at the time and neither team was at its best. Sedalia, with more practice, stands a good chance to beat the Hannibal quintet.

Hannibal Undeclared

The Pirates are undefeated in the games they have played this year. They won their last outing against East St. Louis 54 to 49. They also took first place in the conference tourney.

Hannibal's outstanding center, Ray Sanders, is the only man in the conference who has been able to come close to the Tigers' Bill Holst, who made a record against Columbia by making 41 points. With the best two centers of the conference on the court the game promises to be a battle from start to finish. The centers aren't all that are on the teams by a long way. Sedalia's Ralph Walker, Dale Ruffin and Bill Brown promise to keep Hannibal from hitting the bucket too frequently.

Besides Sanders, Hannibal will have Foney, Smith, Rhodes and Arnold on the probable starting lineup.

Ten Tigers Make the Trip

Ten Tiger cagers and coaches James Ball and Howard Glavin will leave Smith-Cotton high school at 9 o'clock Friday morning. The team will then journey to Hannibal where they have a practice session on the Hannibal court at 3 p. m. The game gets under way at 8 o'clock that night. After the game the team will stay in Hannibal overnight.

Saturday the squad will go to Mexico where a game is slated with the Missouri Military Academy team at 7:30 p. m. After the game the Tigers will return to Sedalia. M. M. A. stood last in the conference tourney and probably will be little trouble for Smith-Cotton.

The boys, besides those on the starting lineup are Bill McCrary, Bill Morgan, Deen Edwards, Eddie Johnson and Tommy Meneffee.

Rumors Persist About Quigley

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 12—(P)—The long career of Ernest C. Quigley in the field of professional and intercollegiate athletics is reported nearing an end.

Rumors — from well informed sources — have it that the University of Kansas athletic director will be retired from that job in the spring, probably in June.

None of the sources would be quoted.

Chancellor Deane W. Malott of the university declined last night to deny or affirm the rumor.

"I have taken no action whatever in the matter, and have no recommendation before the board of regents on that point," Malott told the Associated Press. "There will be no action immediately."

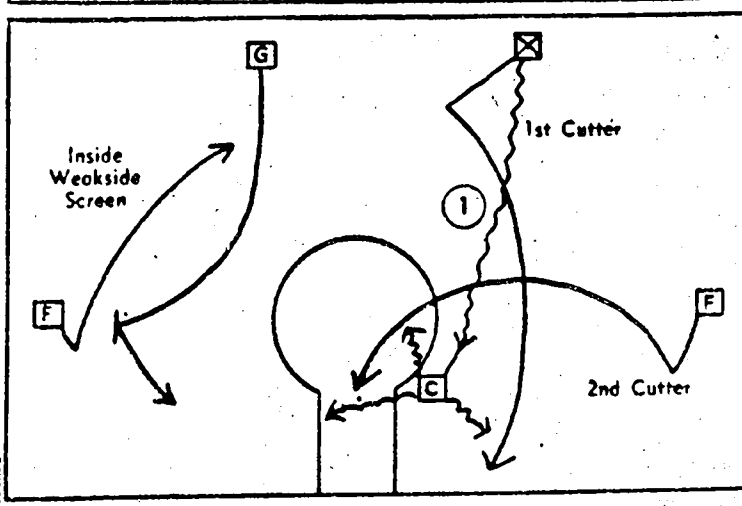

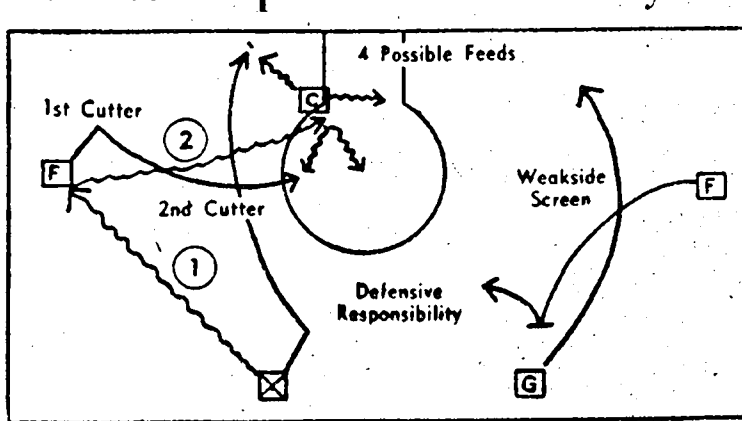

Based on the retirement reports seems to be Quigley's age. He will be 68 March 21.

A mandatory retirement rule at the age of 65 was waived by the university when Quigley passed that age.

Bradley's basic-play patterns.

Bradley Coach

PEORIA, Ill. — Bradley University's basic basketball pattern was designed for a tall center.

Although our present squad lacks height, must settle for the capable five-foot eight-and-a-half Gene Melchiorre at center, the system works well and we like it.

The key is balance for rebounding, defensive responsibility and timing on the part of the cutters and screeners.

'Coach of the Year' Trophy to Wilkinson

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—(P)—Bud Wilkinson, who led Oklahoma's football team through an unbeaten, untied campaign, tonight will receive a handsome trophy in honor of being voted "coach of the year."

The title was bestowed upon the 34-year-old mentor of the Sooners as the result of a poll conducted by the New York World-Telegram and other Scripps-Howard newspapers.

Oklahoma was second to Notre Dame in the Associated Press nationwide poll.

Chief speaker will be Herbert Hoover, former President of the United States. Another will be Dutch Meyer, president of the American College Football Coaches Association, who is coach at Texas Christian University.

More than 300 head football coaches, here for the National Collegiate Athletic Association conclave, will attend the dinner.

Victory Changes Hands In Pro Tennis Tour

RENO, Nev., Jan. 12—(P)—For the first time Pancho Gonzales has beaten Jack Kramer twice in a row since their current world championship pro tennis tour started.

Gonzales turned the trick here last night as Kramer tired in a marathon performance, 5-7, 6-3, 10-8. The young pro rookie also won Tuesday night in Los Angeles. Last night's win was Pancho's eight in 46 tries.

CBC Wins 92 To 51 Over Versailles

At Half, Visiting Cagers Behind By Seven Points

The Central Business college cagers defeated the Versailles Merchants on the Smith-Cotton court Wednesday night to the tune of 92 to 51. This was the highest scoring game of the season for the quintet and it is believed to the highest or one of the highest scores tallied for any independent basketball squad here in Sedalia.

Thompson Scores 46 Points

The Sedalia aggregation was sparked in the second quarter by the fast ball handling and shooting of the C. B. C. guards. Thompson racked up a sum of 46 points for the evening with most of these falling in the second half.

The score at the end of the first quarter saw the C. B. C. five in the lead with a score of 15 to 9. At half time, however, Versailles boys found themselves on the short end with C. B. C. leading 37 to 30. During the second half the host quintet started rolling and outscored the Merchants 29 to 7 making a third quarter score of 66 to 37. In the fourth quarter the college five racked up 26 points to the Merchants 14. This ended the contest with a lopped sided score of 92 to 51.

High Pointers

Runner up for Thompson's 46 points was Bob Tipton with 18. High pointers for Versailles were, R. Garrison with 14 and Campbell with 12.

The Basketeers were especially accurate with their free throw shots, connecting with 18 out of 22 while the Merchants hit 11 out of 23 chances.

This was the second defeat of the season the C. B. C. squad has given the Merchants, the first time being at Versailles by the score of 62 to 55.

Next week the college cagers will meet Windsor. The following week they will meet a strong Columbia quintet, featuring such stars as Fred Hulse and Martin Sauer.

Officials for the game were Roy Carver and Ralph Hodges.

Mules Play in MIAA Saturday

WARRENSBURG, Jan. 12—The Central Missouri State Mules will play their first M. I. A. league contest this Saturday night when they visit the Southeast Missouri State hardwood at Cape Girardeau.

The Mules, recovering from a slow start, will be attempting to establish a 500 per cent record for the season thus far. The Kethmen have won six tilts while dropping seven games. The Mules have won three of their last four games against strong opposition, including victories over Eastern Illinois State, Hanover, Ind., and Emporia State. The only loss was to Franklin College.

Art Laney, flashy guard and little All-America candidate, has completely recovered from a sprained ankle and may start against the Indians Saturday. Although not the leading scorer of the team, Laney has become a valuable "clutch" player and a stalwart defensive man for the Cardinal and Black. The Mule sharpshooters, Jim Hoverder, Chuck Branson, Glen Kanmeyer, C. Cassing, Neal Kanmeyer, Jim Baile and Bill Elwell will all be ready to go against Cape Girardeau.

Monday night, January 16, the Mules take on a second league foe when they encounter the high flying Rolla Miners. The next home game for the Kethmen will be on Wednesday, January 18 against St. Benedict's college.

Winning Streak Ends For Siena College

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—(P)—Little Siena's 14-game winning streak, longest of the current college basketball season, came to an end last night.

Niagara handed Siena its first defeat of the year, 59-49, at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Siena, ranked 18th in this week's Associated Press poll to Niagara's 27th, led at one time, 23-22, but then faded. Niagara, beaten only by San Francisco in 11 games, led 36-27 at halftime and opened up a 49-33 bulge in midway of the second half.

Western Kentucky, ranked 14th, fell before unranked Louisville, 70-59, in a major surprise. Louisville, playing at home, broke a 31-31 tie in the first half to win the 13th of 15 starts.

Makes Comeback

(NEA Telephoto)
Bantam Ben Hogan, making a dramatic comeback to the game of golf, adds his score for the day and finds he has tied Sammy Snead for the Los Angeles Open Golf tournament. Both players made the 72-hole regulation distance in 280 strokes. The playoff will be at the Riviera Country club in Santa Monica, California.

Grid Coaches Recommend Rule Changes

Meet Monday To Act On The Proposed Changes

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 — (P) — Platoon-minded football coaches got downright gushy today in hailing a recommended rules change that would permit one substitution at a time.

The rule change was one of several recommended yesterday by the American College Football Coaches' rules committee. It was tacked on to a solid vote to retain the two-platoon system.

The recommendation is that each team be allowed to substitute one man after each down without stopping the clock and incurring a penalty.

At present a team is penalized five yards for making a substitution when the clock is running. "It's going to be a great thing for the small schools who can't play platoon football," said Lou Little of Columbia, chairman of the coaches' committee.

Little also is one of the members of the NCAA rules group, headed by Harvard's Bill Bingham, which will meet in Pinehurst, N. C., Monday to act on the proposed changes. The rules body normally follows the coaches' suggestions.

Free Substitution
Free substitution would be permitted, as usual, under the recommendation. Full teams may be sent in after each change of the ball or whenever the clock is stopped.

Other recommended changes in the rules were:

1. If the substitution rule is adopted, the time outs be reduced from four to three for each half.

2. The coin-tossing ceremony be staged 15 minutes before the game. This would make possible earlier announcement of starting lineups.

3. The offensive blocking rule be tightened to read: No offensive player may strike an opponent's head, neck or face with locked hands, forearms, elbows or upper arm. At present, the rules stipulate the hands must be against the body and not locked.

4. Officials be realigned on the field to approximate their position when the ball is on the goal line. This would put the umpire on one side of the line and the head linesman on the other with the field judge up closer and the referee in his regular place. The idea of this would be to give the officials a better view of the play.

5. Return to the 1948 rule on personal fouls, designating the type of foul committed. Now the personal foul covers several violations.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12—(P)— A baseball suggestion that probably has Abner Doubleday whirling in his grave popped up at the meeting of college baseball coaches here. The plan:

In order to allow more collegians get into the game, permit players to go into and out of contests at will, all the two-platoon system in football.

The American Baseball Coaches association, meeting her with the National Collegiate Athletic association, made no specific recommendations. But they made it clear there should be some changes to permit more use of the bench.

Sam Baugh May Quit as Redskin Coach

He Considers Job Unfilled At Baylor

By Bob Johnson, Jr.

ROTAN, Tex., Jan. 12—(P)—Old Sam Baugh—the pride of Washington—talks like he's about to grieve that city's football faithful deeply.

Slingin' Sammy as much as said last night he's ready to quit the Washington Redskins and go to coaching at Baylor. There are still a couple of items to be taken care of—such as getting a definite offer from Baylor and a release from the Redskins.

But if the deal goes through, it couldn't be a lot worse—for Washington fans—if the other 10 men on the Redskins, first string all broke their legs. Sam has ben around Washington longer than a lot of Democrats.

Need Replacement

Maugh said at his ranch near here that officials from the Baptist school at Daco have asked him if he'd be interested in a job as head coach. They need a replacement for Bob Woodruff, who quit last week to go to the University of Florida.

Time the second step, taken on the left foot, with the down swing of the ball.
This step, like the first, should be short in order to keep the body balanced forward on the ball of the foot.
The ball rises to its peak on the next or third step.
As we take the second step, the left hand leaves the ball, and moves out from the body to maintain perfect body control.
The ball, swinging downward and backward, passes the left ankle in a smooth motion, swinging easily at the end of the outstretched right arm.
The body is bent slightly forward, but the shoulders are still straight.
The ball is held easily in the right hand.
The eyes are directed forward toward the spot where we will place the ball.

Plan To Evade Cigarette Tax

Joplin Firm Said To Have It In Mailing Service

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 12—(P)—A concern announcing itself as the "Missouri Cooperative" invites Tulsa smokers to join its cigarette mailing service and avoid Oklahoma taxes.

The Joplin combine advises by letter that the setup is perfectly legal, devised by attorneys to circumvent the Jenkins law through which Oklahoma sought to stop the out-of-state mail order business.

The federal statute requires sellers to report names of buyers to taxing authorities of the state in which they live. The Oklahoma cigarette tax amounts to five cents per pack.

The Co-Op's letters offer membership for $1, guaranteeing that the buyer's name will not be submitted.

Included are price lists for standard brands, $1.60 a carton, postage prepaid, minimum order of five cartons. Also offered are other items, including clothing articles and similar merchandise.

Vice Chairman Joe Whitaker of the state tax commission said in Oklahoma City that "I haven't heard of it."

"We'll have an answer of some kind for them, though," he added.

Whitaker said the state is receiving a few reports of cigarette sales to Oklahomans and that tax collections are being made.

Oklahoma is entitled to collect 50 cents tax for each carton shipped into the state plus a 50 cents a pack penalty.

JOPLIN, Mo., Jan. 12 — (P) — Leonard F. Royer, manager of the newly incorporated "Missouri Cooperative," said here Wednesday the cooperative is preparing to restore the mail order cigarette business, halted last October by the Jenkins law.

"We haven't started shipping yet," Royer said, "but our attorneys have advised us it will be legal for us to operate as a cooperative without violating the Jenkins law." He added that the constitutionality of that act is being attacked.

Royer identified Sidney Smith of Joplin, president of a National Association of Cigarette Mail Order Houses, as president of the newly formed cooperative. He said it has been incorporated under Missouri law.

Royer formerly headed the Capital Supply Company, which was one of the large shippers of mail order, tax-free cigarettes from Joplin to states in which there are state cigarette taxes. There were several other shippers in Joplin and other southwest Missouri towns, including Smith.

Smith was out of the city today and was not reached for comment.

Two Fatally Injured; 5 Hurt

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Jan. 12 — (P)—Two persons were injured fatally and five others were hurt in a two-car collision north of here Wednesday.

Five of the persons were county officials.

The dead were Robert Love, Jr., 56, Adair county recorder, and Mrs. Sam Lay, 70, of Green Top, Mo.

Love died en route to a hospital and Mrs. Lay died in a hospital here.

Three others hospitalized here were: Charles Martin, circuit court clerk, in critical condition with skull fracture and deep brain injury; Otis Hills, 40, county superintendent of schools, fractures of facial bones, ribs and knee; and Sam Lay, 70, husband of Mrs. Lay, fractured right leg, concussion and cuts.

Merrill Davidson, 37, county clerk, and Grover Bolfield, 60, county treasurer, were treated and released.

The officials, all riding in one car, were returning from an inspection trip in the northern part of the county. They were within a mile of the city on U. S. highway 63, when their car, driven by Hills, collided with Lay's car at the entrance to a filling station.

Your Income Tax Primer

When to Use the Tax Table to Compute What's Due

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
NEA Special Correspondent

Your adjusted gross income, Item 6, on page 1 of Form 1040, was described in the last article as your total income. You do not, however, pay tax on all of it. First, you are entitled to deduct your exemptions. That means $600 multiplied by the total number of exemptions claimed in Item 1, page 1, of the return. John and Jane Public show 5 exemptions so they get $3000 off their total income for exemptions.

Second, you can either itemize your deductions and subtract the total OR you can get a deduction of about 10% of your total income by filing in one of two ways:

1. If Line 6, page 1, is under $5000, by using the tax table on page 4 of the return; or

2. If Line 6, page 1, is $5000 or more, by taking a standard deduction in the Tax Computation schedule on page 3 of the return.

If you use this table, tear off this page and file only pages 1 and 2

Read down the shaded columns below until you find the line covering the total income you entered in Item 6, page 1. Then read across to the column headed by the number corresponding to the number of exemptions claimed in Item 1, page 1. Enter the tax you find there in Item 7, page 1.

Indianans Boost Pre-fab Houses Into Big Time

Price Brothers Started Small, Now Plan Coast-to-Coast Expansion

"Thrift Home." Two bedrooms for $5,100 — plus land.

By NEA Service

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—(AP)—A pair of enterprising young Indianans are well on their way toward boosting the manufacture of pre-fabricated homes into the big business arena.

Ever since federal authorities tried to spur output of low-cost "pre-fabs" in the early postwar days, many companies have been struggling vainly to make a sizeable dent in the housing market. Only in the last five years have a few begun to achieve real progress.

One of those is the National Homes Corp., headed by the Price brothers, James and George. Starting with a small plant here in 1940, these two have hiked production to a present 28 houses a day—140 a week—and are promising to more than triple that figure in two years.

National Homes has shipped more than 17,000 houses during its brief lifetime, and claims to be the world's largest maker of pre-fabs. Whether true or not, the firm now is producing nearly a third of U. S. output.

The cost of their product seems to be a big factor in the Price brothers' success. Their two-bedroom "thrift home" sells for $5,100—within range of the family earning only $40 a week. They turn out a three-bedroom model for $6,300. Cost of the lot is not included.

Says James Price, company president: "The market is limitless. We are building for people who now live in trailer camps, attics and basements."

The government would agree that the market for homes in this price bracket is wide. Housing officials regularly call on the building industry to turn out a $6,000 "economy" house that will tap the broad mass demand.

National Homes produces its dwelling units in room-sized sections, with ply-wood the chief material for exterior and interior walls. Unassembled pre-fabs are shipped from the factory in specially designed trailers which operate over a 500-mile radius. More distant shipments can be made by rail—two houses to a car.

The company now offers customers 16 different exterior designs, eight each for the two-bedroom and three-bedroom models.

A major sticker in expanding pre-fab production has always been dealer trouble. Too often dealers have found it impossible to finance the purchase of enough units to get into business on a large scale.

National Homes gets around this problem by using its 150-man dealer organization to solicit orders before the houses are built in the plant. Thus, dealers do not have to pay for units they may not be able to sell.

Rather than accumulate a backlog of unsold pre-fabs, dealers focus their resources on developing community areas. They install sewers and other utilities, put down streets and sidewalks and landscaping.

Erection of pre-fabs in community groups is relatively new. National Homes soon will start building a $600-unit project at Columbus, O. It has already put up 1990 in Indianapolis and 500 each in Fort Wayne and South Bend, Ind. Many are gathered in compact neighborhood settings.

Fifteen years ago James Price quit farming for a $75 a month job with a defunct bank. He got into real estate through his work in disposing of the bank's property holdings. From there it was a short stride to creating National Homes in 1940 with a meager $12,500 capital.

The war gave the company a big push into healthy production. Between 1941 and 1945 National Homes built 7500 units for war workers and military personnel. With the capital amassed in this period, the Price brothers were ready for an ambitious try when peace came. Their early postwar houses sold well, but they felt the $7000-$10,000 price was too high.

Hence was born the present "thrift home" in late 1948. It offers a 12x16 living room, kitchen with built-in sink and cabinets, utility room with water heater and wall furnace, considerable storage and closet place.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation granted National Homes a $6,500,000 working credit in 1947, but thus far the company has borrowed only $2,000,000 against it. The Prices say the business is sound. But they expect rising production to necessitate further borrowings of at least $800,000.

The Price team wants to reach into the rich housing markets of the Pacific coast and the Atlantic seaboard. They claim they can ship a house to Los Angeles for $300 and still undersell competitors by $1000. And they're talking of establishing a branch plant in New York state this spring. Those efforts to spread nationwide may be the real test whether prefabricated housing is at last to make the grade as big business.

Exploded by Fire

Before the introduction of explosives, rock sometimes was excavated by building a fire against it, causing it to split as it cooled, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

A DAZZLING CLEAN WASH WITHOUT RINSING!

"NO MORE RINSING FOR ME!"

says Mrs. Elizabeth Davis OF PORTSMOUTH, OHIO

"I didn't believe Tide could do it... till I tried it! But it's true! I took the clothes right out of those wonderful Tide suds and put them through the wringer and onto the line. And, believe me, they looked so bright and clean—I was proud to hang them up!"

"I took my wash out of the Tide suds—wring it out—and hung it up CLEAN! I'll never rinse again!"

says Mrs. M. Hayes OF WEHAWKEN, NEW JERSEY

"Tide now makes possible an amazing new kind of washday—quick and easy, almost beyond belief. Just think of all the time I'm going to save... without rinsing! And think of the wear and tear it saves on my clothes as well as on me! Thank you, Tide, for the biggest washday miracle of all!"

"My clothes dried so soft and fluffy—ironed so easily—without rinsing at all!"

says Margaret Lockwood OF INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

"Talk about miracles! I take my clothes out of Tide's wonder suds, wring them out, and the dirt runs right out with the wash-water just as they say it does! And what a beautiful wash... fresh, clean, and sweet-smelling without rinsing at all! It dries soft, fluffy, easy to iron. From now on, it's Tide—and only Tide—for me!"

TIDE cuts washday work in half!
No more rinsing!
Just wash... wring out... hang up!

NEW YORK — A checkup on checks shows that anything goes this spring from an almost imperceptible cross-bar to squares as big as on a checker board.

The bigger the checks the sportier the style in new casual coats. Newcomer among these is the "toga," a loose, unsleeved wrap that's a fashion idea taken over from the ancient Romans by Bonnie Cashin.

Prunes Seek New Markets
DAVIS, Calif. (AP)—The prune is seeking a destiny better than the breakfast table. An exhibit here recently displayed these new prune products:

Bottled fresh prune juice, made with a new process that retains the taste of fresh prunes. Frozen prune concentrate. Sieved canned prunes, adaptable for prune ice cream, open face prune pie, prune milkshake, prune bread or cake, prune candy, and prune desserts. Breakfast cereal flakes with 25 per cent prune content. Prune granules. Prune cola.

The exhibit was prepared by the University of California College of Agriculture here.

India Slows Construction
NEW DELHI, India—(AP)—The government of India has decided to discourage all non-essential constructions, as part of its economy drive and because of scarcity of building material.

Minister for Works I. V. Gadgil told the legislative assembly recently that this included cinema houses but not sports stadiums if they were not luxuriously designed.

Here are three quick, easy ways to renew old lamp shades. An old frame (left) gets a new paper shade, attached first with clothespins, then sewed. Another frame (center) takes a shade easily "woven" of inexpensive raffia. A third shade (right) has soiled spots concealed by gay flower motifs cut from seed catalogs.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

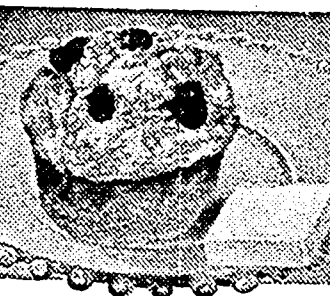

Family life in the early 1900's was just that—much more of a reality than in later decades, when outside attractions lured the family from the hearthside. In this commonplace turn-of-the-century scene, it is, perhaps, significant that three of the family are reading. The youngster on the floor is being waited to far-away places by the stereoscope, that indispensable adjunct of post-Victorian culture. But Father probably has one tie with his present-day descendant. As he reads his newspaper, he probably grows at Mother that the country's going to the demerit bow-wow and somebody ought to head off that dad-blamed Congress before it bankrupts all of us. And Mother, unlike her voting granddaughter, probably murmurs, "Yes, dear."

Community News from Clarksburg

Mrs. Maude Albin
Mrs. Zola Welch was hostess to the Cross Lane club at her home west of Clarksburg last Wednesday. There were seven members present and three children. The inclement weather and icy roads prevented some from attending and there was sickness in some of the homes. A luncheon was served at the noon hour. The women worked on tea towels for the hostess. The next meeting plans to be with Mrs. Effie Stinson.

Cannon Nearly Causes War
MILAN—(AP)—A cannon, four or five years old, threatened to start a war between San Cesario and Spilamberto, two little towns south of the Po River. The cannon was borrowed some 20 years ago by Spilamberto from San Cesario for a local fiesta and never returned.

A few months ago the San Cesarians planned a celebration and obtained a "temporary" restitution of the cannon. After the fiesta, the San Cesarians refused to give it back.

Spilambertians decided to take the cannon during the night. San Cesario hid the cannon whereupon the Spilambertians threatened to steal the town church bells in reparation. So a detachment of San Cesariani mounted guard every around the town's belfry. Latest communiques indicate: calm on both fronts.
